NARRATIVE:
 my fiance and I were arguing about our past and about her sister and about how I thought that how we crossed the small bridge wasn't a good idea before that. As we talked, we had thought that maybe we should have a kind of time out between the two of us and I said being a family is so important for our son and she said if you want him you can have him in a anger, it was at that time that she let go of the stroller and I ran to our son to not have possible harm to him occur. She's not known for such things on a regular basis and the rest is just verbal arguing and that's all.

Brian W York
 P.S. and I did push past her to get to the stroller to prevent possible harm to our son, I was scared for our son.

Stefanie PUSHED a INFANT into on coming TRAFFIC! I was almost killed saving my son form the front end of a chevy truck!
